1. Purpose of your presentation/speech

The purpose of this presentation is to make people understand how computer programming is the language of the future and that foreign language should be replaced with it.

2. The reaction, or action, you want to take place with the audience

Educate their peers, educate their future generation in regards to computer programming.

3. Three goals you have set for yourself in this presentation

- Move people to change and tell others about programming
- Speak precisely
- Try to get my point across very clearly

4. A fact that you are aware of concerning this audience, topic, or situation that might impact how you make your presentation

People are generally against computer programming and that computers are evil. So, I have an anecdote of a barber to help people relate to me more.

5. Information, organization, ideas, or delivery strategies you will feel will really make an impact on the audience

I will show people how computer programming can help them improve their lives. Also, how by embracing it they can secure their current generation and their future one as well.
